HUMAN RIGHTS

INDIGENOUS RIGHTS

CLIMATE CHANGE

ALICE SPRINGS 24-30 September

The workshop look indigenous issues through the lens of the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples. Participants will hear the stories of Indigenous Australians as well as look at the issues of colonisation, the stolen generation, discrimination, land take-over and the Northern Territory intervention.

The workshop will also focus on climate change and the devastating effects it will have on the rights of all peoples, particularly indigenous peoples in our region. Those who are less equipped to respond or closer to the rhythm of country will be most exposed to climate changes such as increasing temperatures, changed rainfall patterns and sea level rise.

Participants will be encouraged to develop plans for action in response, bringing thinking about indigenous rights and sustainability into our own lives, work and communities.

Cost $150. Includes accommodation, food and resources.

Scholarships for travel to Alice Springs and workshop costs available for those willing to attend the Australian Student Christian Movement AGM.
